President's Corner

Welcome beautiful DKG Sisters to your new biennium!

It is with honor and pleasure that I invite you to be a part of helping DKG allow you and other members to experience your dream just as this penguin has done with his dream to fly! DKG is here to help us soar into our dreams and to help others experience the same. As we explore personal and professional growth for ourselves and others, unite in genuine fellowship, honor others' service and talents, we are able to advance our interests, endow scholarships to women & non-women educators, stimulate our own personal and professional growth by

On August 7, 2025, Memory Wollenweber passed away due to a fall. Memory was installed as our Colorado State 1st Vice President at our June 2025 state convention. Memory's nomination acceptance letter is reprinted here in full. It shows the attitude that Memory had about DKG and about life. Her kindness and smile will be remembered by those who were blessed to know her.

If we are fortunate enough, we have women in our lives who love us, guide us, and mentor us. For me, those women were all teachers. Because of my grandmother, I knew by the age of eight that I wanted to become a teacher just like her. She began her teaching career in a one room schoolhouse on the Colorado prairie and became fast friends with a teacher in a neighboring school. The friend became my "Auntie Pep". Her name was Bertha Campbell who went on to become a Jefferson County principal and a proud member of Pi Chapter, Omega State, The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International. My third great fortune was to have Naomi Kullerstrand Olson as my third grade teacher and principal. I will never forget the love that she showed me and the feeling of being special in my teacher's eyes. It's a need all children have, and the memory lasts a lifetime. Naomi was a founder of Omega State and the first president of Pi Chapter.

When I became a teacher, it was my Auntie Pep's dream for me to become a member of Delta Kappa Gamma. She didn't live long enough to see it come true. But, her friends, Rose Stein and Freda Rizzari saw it through to fruition. I had the great honor and pleasure of chauffeuring Naomi to Pi functions and State Conventions. There were many "greats" in Pi Chapter when I became a member: women dedicated to the purposes of DKG with schools named in their honor – Ilene Deane, Marjorie Thomson, Bertha Campbell, Naomi Kullerstrand Olson. My life is far richer for knowing these inspirational leaders.

It is with a grateful heart that I accept the nomination for Corresponding Secretary of Colorado State in honor of our past and with a vision for our future.

Memory is a retired educator from Jefferson County Public Schools where she taught elementary students for 35 years. She received both her Bachelor of Arts in Elementary Education and Master of Arts in Curriculum and Instruction from the University of Northern Colorado. As a member of Pi Chapter, Memory has served as President (two terms) and 1st Vice President and a member of Omega State Bylaws and Standing Rules Committee. She also served as Colorado State Recording Secretary for two terms.

Memory is a Member of Trinity Presbyterian Church, Making Choices Teacher and Mentor (pairing professional women with incarcerated women at Denver Women's Correctional Facility), Yoga Instructor, Board of Directors Arvada West High School Foundation, Arvada Historical Society and Denver Audubon Society.

Please Note:

So, you know:

Memory Wollenweber passed away Thursday, August 7, due to complications from a fall. She had recently been installed as second vice-president of Colorado State Organization, and she will be greatly missed by all who knew her. We will remember her yoga, beautiful smile, and enthusiastic attitude. Services will be held at a later date. The position of second vice president is open and will be filled by presidential appointment.

From President Laura:

For our dear Memory Wollenweber we have a Memories of Memory link on our DKG Colorado website, dkg.colorado.com.

Membership

The Membership Team conducted the White Roses ceremony at the Colorado State Convention in June of 2025. Juana Hajek was the Master of Ceremonies. Marney Hawes sang a beautiful rendition of "I'll Be Seeing You" and The Colorado DKG Choir sang "Rainbow Connection" and "In the Bulb There is a Flower". Vicki Sanderson provided the accompaniment for the vocals. Juana Hajek read her original poem, "I Remember You" and Memory Wollenweber read "White Rose of Wisdom", a poem written by Christina Collazo.

We will all miss those sisters who are no longer with us. Please see the entire list of the members who were honored in our Ceremony of remembrance in the White Roses segment.

Chapter Happenings

Rho

Rho Chapter ended our year of meetings with a bang! We went on a tour of Prairie Ridge Buffalo Ranch, just south of Limon, Colorado. Prairie Ridge is owned by Rho chapter member Debbie Thieman and her family. The ranch is a three generation operation and is run by Debbie and her husband Ray, their daughter and son-in-law (Shawn and Carrie Bennett) and eight of their grandchildren.

We began our day with a short educational presentation by Debbie. Did you know that the American bison is the National Mammal of the United States? This is just one of the interesting facts that Debbie presented. After Debbie's program, members loaded up in the specially constructed touring trailer to drive out to the pasture where the bison were busy grazing. Our tour started with a stern warning not to leave the trailer for any reason, and not to try to pet the bison. Although these animals are being raised on a ranch just as cattle would be, they are definitely not domesticated. Members were enchanted by the six young bison calves frolicking around their mothers. We were also able to see several of the herd sires when we were able to feed the bison “cake”. When referring to the “cake” that is being fed to animals we are talking about range cubes, or protein cubes. Just like their domesticated cousins (cattle), the bison LOVE that cake! Ray and Debbie are dedicated to teaching people about the health benefits of bison meat, and about the history and future of the American bison. Rho chapter members enjoyed our tour so much that we are planning another in May 2026.

In July, members met for our yearly planning meeting at the home of Donna Hoover. This is always a great time of fellowship between members as we plan our programs for the year. We look forward to the 2025/2026 DKG year and are excited to begin another year of learning, fellowship, leadership, and commitment.

Alpha Mu

Alpha Mu Chapter Musings: Therese Moran and Heidi Ragsdale attended the Summer Convention in Englewood. Heidi provided an overview of the DKGColorado.com website, and had a night presentation on Space/Astronomy outreach programs and the GJ Space Ladies. Therese and Heidi even donned their Space pajamas!! We cheered on the new executive board.

During our first chapter meeting we gathered in the family room of Therese and had a great time with our special guest, Dr. Laura Kuniansky. Each member learned about the DKG.org International's drive for increased membership, so Alpha Mu practiced using "Elevator chats" to encourage members to recruit additional members to our Chapter and state chapters overall. Our members are sending postcards to our local legislators to encourage them to help get a postage stamp of Dr. Annie Webb Blanton. We enjoyed our Palisade peach desserts and some ladies even jumped into the pool!

Alpha Rho

Alpha Rho had many interesting meetings. Our focus for our meetings was to meet the State President's Theme: Learning has no boundaries: Forward moving with Delta Kappa Gamma. We started out with a presentation from Ruth Warner. Her slideshow and talk informed us about her trip to Kazakhstan and Kurdistan. She explained to us the various aspects of its culture and locations. Ruth toured many towns and interviewed many villagers. She met several singers and others who participated in celebrations.

Our annual get together with our sister chapter, Delta, was phenomenal. It was centered around Educator Legacies. The speakers spoke about the future of education and best practices. We each shared an educational legacy someone left us and/or one that we left for someone else.

Our trip to UNC Michener Museum was quite enlightening and thoroughly enjoyed. The tour guides spoke about Michener's life and how each book was the result of his experiences and passions. The museum had exhibits of the era of early protests and rallies of African- American and Hispanic cultures.

We continued our focus on contributions to the CLD program at Meeker. It was very satisfying to see the benefits of our donations to the program and most importantly to the children of the program and our community. Our Alpha Rho chapter is committed to work for the betterment of ourselves and the community. We will enforce that Learning truly has no boundaries.

Colorado Librarian Partners with End Witch Hunts to Bring Historical Education to Students

When Jennifer Tozer, librarian at Pueblo Community College, set out to create an ambitious month-long educational program about the Salem Witch Trials, she knew she needed expert guidance to connect historical events to contemporary issues. That's when she reached out to Sarah Jack, Director of End Witch Hunts, a Colorado-based nonprofit organization.

From Historical Interest to Modern Relevance

Tozer's passion project, "Witch Trials: Accusation to Exoneration," began as a way to bring Salem's history to students who might never visit Massachusetts. But she wanted the program to be more than just a history lesson. "I really wanted to start with something that people would be interested in and might draw them in, but then also talk about why it's still relevant," Tozer explained during a recent podcast interview.

Expert Consultation Makes the Connection

Sarah Jack, whose organization works to raise awareness about modern-day witchcraft accusations worldwide, provided crucial consultation during the program's development. As a descendant of Rebecca Nurse, one of the Salem victims, Jack brought both personal connection and professional expertise to the collaboration.

Jack, who participates in DKG International's DKGNext program, serves as Recording Secretary for DKG Colorado and is a member of the Aurora DKG Chapter Alpha Iota, combines her podcasting and social science expertise with her advocacy work. Her involvement in Delta Kappa Gamma International, the professional honor society for women educators, adds another layer of educational expertise to the partnership.

"I was so thrilled that you were interested in doing this," Jack shared, acknowledging the challenges Tozer faced building the program from scratch when traditional museum exhibits aren't available.

Bridging Past and Present

Through Jack's guidance, the program successfully connects 17th-century witch trials to ongoing issues of injustice today. The collaboration ensures students understand that while Salem feels like ancient history, similar accusations and persecutions continue worldwide.

"We think Salem and we think it's forever ago and what does that have to do with me?" Tozer noted. "If you think about it, it really wasn't that long ago, and these things still happen today."

Community Impact

Jack will present to Pueblo Community College students as one of several expert presentations throughout October, alongside special author talks featuring Kathleen Kent (The Heretic's Daughter) and Daniel Gagnon (A Salem Witch). This collaboration demonstrates how local expertise can enhance educational programming, bringing awareness about End Witch Hunts' global mission directly to the community.

The partnership showcases how education and advocacy nonprofits and higher education institutions can work together to make historical education both engaging and relevant to contemporary social justice issues.

You can hear more about this collaboration in "Bringing Witch Trial History to Students: A Librarian's Creative Educational Program" on The Thing About Witch Hunts podcast.

"Witch Trials: Accusation to Exoneration" runs throughout October at Pueblo Community College Library, featuring exhibits, author presentations, and community discussions.

Articles, Articles, Articles! We'd love to publish more articles in the Peaks & Plains. We have been averaging from three to five chapter articles and one or two team updates. My plan to conduct a member interview did not come to fruition but is still a goal for the February issue. If you know of any of your chapter members, past or present, who you believe we would like to know better, please email me at coloradodkgpeaksandplains@gmail.com. As ever, I am always looking for ways to improve the newsletter.

Hank the Cowdog by John R. Erickson is one of the funniest series I have ever read. Each book is told from the perspective of Hank, the ranch "Head of Security". Hank is assisted in his efforts by Drover. Other characters in the series are High Loper (ranch owner), Sally Mae (High Loper's wife), Slim (hired man), Little Alfred (High Loper's and Sally Mae's son). Let's not forget the rest of the animal characters! There's Beulah, Hank's One True Love; Madame Moonshine, the psychic owl; Wallace and Junior, father and son buzzards; The Coyote Family, Rip, Snort, Sraunch, and Missy Coyote; Plato the bird dog; and last but not least, Pete the Cat.

Every book in the series deals with another of Hank's adventures. In the first book, The Original Adventures of Hank the Cowdog, Hank is falsely accused of killing one of Sally Mae's chickens. His feelings are hurt and he runs away from home, only to meet Missy Coyote, the beautiful sister of the Coyote Brothers. Hank decides that he has fallen in love with Missy but he has to prove himself to her brothers, Rip, Snort, and Sraunch. Along the way, Hank meets several other quirky characters and the laughs are frequent.

I love reading these books aloud to kids. Kids really appreciate the slapstick humor that Erickson employs. One of my favorite examples of this is the fact that Hank always bathes in Emerald Pond and thinks that he comes out smelling sweet. Emerald Pond is the septic tank overflow. The books are so much fun to read, but if you really want a treat, find one of the audiobooks and listen to John R. Erickson read them. He uses different voices for the various characters and he never gets mixed up when it comes to which voice goes with each character. Mr. Erickson is a former ranch hand. He owns a ranch in the Texas Panhandle and knows first hand the struggles of ranching. In 2019, he was inducted into the Texas Literary Hall of Fame and his stories have won numerous awards.
